USEFUL INFORMATION

INTRODUCTION

The Val d'Egua Wildlife and Hunting Estate (AFV) stands out for its rich biodiversity, with vast areas of woodland, meadows and waterways that create a unique and unspoilt ecosystem. The Egua stream is renowned for its crystal-clear waters, abundantly populated by brown trout. The stream and its tributaries welcome fishing enthusiasts amid enchanting landscapes, historic villages and unspoiled nature. Small lakes near Carcoforo provide the ideal environment for children to learn about and develop a love for fishing.

Conservation. River ecosystems are extremely fragile; for this reason, the Estate is committed to preserving the integrity of natural habitats, protecting them and supporting fish populations through regular stocking of fry and adult specimens, ensuring a sustainable future for our shared passion.

HOW TO GET THERE

Exit the A26 motorway at Romagnano Sesia, continue along State Road SP 299 (Valsesia) towards Alagna. At the Balmuccia roundabout, take the first exit onto SP 11 towards Carcoforo.
